COLYER ON THE WICKENBURG MASSACRE.

A Washington dispatch to the New York Tribune, which we copy below, is of a character which must convince every intelligent mind that, although the Secretary of the Board of Indian Commissioners is an acknowledged traitor to all the better attributes of the human heart, he possesses one laudable trait of character; but unfortunately it is, in his case, possessed only to be abused. This is perseverance. Had the old scoundrel directed this solitary virtue in the proper channel-to champion truth and justice, he would not, to-day, be in disgrace; but no, he chose rather to champion theft, falsehood and murder-and hence, his one virtue, which might if properly directed, have sustained him against the tongues of a thousand accusers, when so perverted served only to accelerate the process which wrought his disgrace.

Divested of the satelitions light by which he shone in Arizona; charged of falsehoood by the subsequent action of the Indian Bureau, and a target for the animadversion of every honest man, at the East as well as as at the West, he adheres to his heresy and falsehood, even to the present hour, with all the tenacity and malignity ascribed to a devil incarnate in his efforts to enslave the souls of

A prominent military officer told us, uot very many weeks ago, that we must not yet congratulate ourselves and fellow-citizens upon the allegorical death of Vincent Colyer. "Vincent," said he, "will never surrender so "long as he shall hold a Government office. "I know him well. He may possibly remain "passive for a few months until the public "indignation against him will have partially "subsided, but at such time you must expect "to find him chanting his hypocrisy again, "and to some purpose. The man is dishon-"moneys directly or indirectly under his murder have been appealed to this court. Maxia | As Mr. Colycr was passing through the country, fulls an escort of seventeen cavalrymen commanded by a Lieutemant, Eo.1 in the stage, near Date Creek the owner of a ranch engaged passage for his wife and daughter, as he expected his house would be attacked by lucians that night, | The Indians had made an attack in the morning and were repulsed, with two of their number wounded; hence the fear of another attack .- Ep. | From the woman Mr. Colver learned that a few days before one of the Apache-Mohaves had come to her house to do some small piece of work for her, as be was in the custom of doing. As Of course the Indian refused, so they took it away from him by force, he resisting to the best of his ability, and they knocked him down with the but of it after they had secured it. Enraged at his resistance one of them then shot the Indian with his pistol. The three men then rode away, and the owner of the ranch buried the Indian in his garden. [New this pitiful story is absolutely without any foundation. It could never have been related to Mr. Colver; for it is extremely improbable that a fugitive wife would invent a falsehood, in the course of her flight, in extenuation of the attack, by savages, which rendered it imperative for her to flee for safety to a military post. The Indian who killed Mr. Henning, on the 24th of July, was af-terwards killed by Mr. Genung, after he had fired two shots at the latter, from a pistol. This occurred near Date Creek, and is doubt-by the savages. They escaped, in safety within the door, and then opened fire upon the savages, from within, driving them off trary to their laws; but this matter will and wounding two of their number, as stat- probably be adjusted in a short time. Tucson, January 8, 1872. THE SCHOOL FUND.

The Citizen says: The Territorial Board of Education met December 31, and apportioned the school money among the several counties on the basis of the school census returns, to wit .: Pima has 503 children, and gets $695.23 Yuma has 364 children, and gets $419.66 Maricopa has 94 children, and gets $108.38;

Yavapai has 211 children and gets $243.28

THE SOUTHERN MINES.

Accounts from the Pinal mines continue good and encouraging. Several of our citizens have, within the past fortnight, visited mines 35 miles south of here. The result is, claims staked off and work begun. Nothing has been heard of the party which left three weeks ago to prospect in the Huaehuca mountains. It is reported that several Mexicans are at work about 35 miles southward. and are confident that they have "struck it rich." In short, the mining interest in Southern Arizona may be set down as decidedly
